

My experiments with the Truth

Autobiography is account of person's own life by themselves. This chapter is an extract of Mahatma Gandhi's autobiography.

Mahatma Gandhi was only 7 years old when his father left for Poona. He never lied to his teachers or friends and was mediocre student. He was anti-social & considered books as best friends.

An incident occurred with him during examination in first year at high school. Mr. Giles was Educational inspector and came on visit for inspection. He gave 5 marks in dictation. Mahatma Gandhi misspelled 'Kettle' and teacher tried to provoke him to cheat. However, he resisted and decided to never cheat.

Mahatma Gandhi used to watch play

'Hrishchandra' and it was his favourite. However, he did not watch it after. Mahatma Gandhi used to act like Hrishchandra and followed all ideals. Even if Hrishchandra was historic character, he was close to him.